It seems a constant source of surprise to visitors to Wailuku for the first time, especially to those who live in other portions of the Islands, that we have so delightful a climate and so beautiful a site for a town, with so little of life and "go" to to us. It is true that Wailuku has been in a state of hibernation for some years, but that time is at an end, and the towns people are now beginning to wake up and make a beautiful little city of Wailuku.

Wailuku has the reputation of being rather a hard little town. and the mud wasps that reign undisturbed on the walls and ceilings of the deserted Foreign church are evidence in the case. But for all that, the Wailuku people are very much like other folks, and when on last Sunday night, a stray itinerant wandered into Wailuku and announced that there would be service at the church he was greeted with a congregation which was eminently respectable both in size and quality. And if such a sermon as was preached were guaranteed to the Wailuku people every Sunday night, one charm would be added to the town which it now sadly lacks.

There is a belief in California that there is a tremendous wave of prosperity now headed for the Islands, and this sentiment finds expression in letters from business men on the Coast to their customers on the Island. This is doubtless true, and within a year any good sugar stock will be in demand at a premium in the stock markets of the States. Although business was good last year, up to the advent of the plague, yet the people of the Islands have yet to learn the real meaning of good times as it will be exemplified during the next few years

It seems a mistake that Kahului is not thrown wide open to the proper classes of mechanics and tradesmen, and that such are not encouraged to come and take long leases of desirable business lots. The theory of the present management at Kahului to build and own and run the town themselves may be a good one, and they seem to be going to work about it with plenty of vim and energy but would it not make more business for the railroad company, if outsiders were invited to come in and help to build up the town?

There has been something pathetic in the apathy which China has heretofore manifested concerning the inroads of foreign nations. And the pathos almost became bathos when she permitted little Japan to dominate her. But if once the four hundred millions of China conclude to unite against dismemberment, and a solid sentiment of union for protection is created, it is a safe guess that the Chinese wall will again baffle the Cossacks and Saxons as it once baffled the Tartars.

Although the law requires all proceedings in the courts to be anese are the suspected parties. conducted in the English language, yet as a matter of fact, on the Island of Maui, only a very small percent of those who go or are brought to court can speak or understand English, even as she is spoke on Maui. Interpreters' fees will long be a heavy tax, and an unavoidable one. In this connections the circuit court of Maui and the district court of Wailuku should be provided with a good Japanese interpreter.

There is no sweeter music in a little town than that of the saw and hammer, and the solitary rat-a-tat which woke up Wailuku, at the construction of the NEWS annex, has swelled to a regular chorus so that one can not go on a single street now without finding that the carpenter is there before him, and the air is laden with the perfume of new boards and fresh paint.

Money may be a little tight just now, but to panic is possible. and with the disbursement of sugar dividends, the tide of winter tourist travel and the natural developments and improvements constantly being made, plenty of money for all commercial purposes will soon be flowing in every needed channel. There's good time coming, boys.

There is an excellent opening for a hotel in Laihaina. Soon there will be an abundant supply of good, fresh water for the town, (or the NEWS will find out why not.) and then there will be no excuse for further delay in providing a cosy little hotel for the accommodation of the travelling public who find it necessary or convenient to visit Lahaina.

With an increase in material prosperity, there should be extra attention given by all good citizens to the matter of education. There is no particular cause for complaint on that score so far as the past is concerned, but the need will be greater now. Good teachers and good schools and plenty of them should be the watchword of the Territory.

Presumably, the people of the Territory of Hawaii, even including the Advertiser, feel some desire to see the Territory become a state. If so, the sooner that regular municipal governments are established for the different counties and cities, the sooner we will be able to demonstrate that we are ready for stateis hood,
